A Beauty Beyond Imagination

Be prepared for a different kind of designer when you work with Debra Geller.

Designing all throughout the Hamptons, Westchester, New York, and Florida, Debra has earned a bit of a reputation. Known as a construction designer, she'll likely show up dressed in work boots over heels and still manage to flawlessly handle everything from the first phases of a construction project to the final details of selecting and installing finishes. Intent on working side-by-side with subcontractors, architects and builders, Debra merges business savvy with sophisticated design skill, and the result is a bespoke design process that delivers a stress-free, meticulous reflection of each client's design aesthetic.

Believing that you "wear your house," Debra takes color clues from her clients' closets and their outdoor landscapes, and she closely observes the ways they live and play within their homes. "Whether I am designing a custom home, spec house, commercial space or restaurant, my job is to create a space unlike anything you could have done for yourself," she says.

"I love introducing clients to products they didn't even know existed and designing multi-functional spaces for families to live and play. I've lived in the Hamptons for almost a decade, and everything about this place is so inspiring. Clients' homes should reflect that same breathtaking beauty."
